Dear Ms. Khokhar:

Thank you for your letter of April 16, 1996, and the enclosed copy of your booklet, The Changing Face of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police - A Historical Look at the Legacy of Commissioner Norman David Inkster.

I would also like to congratulate you on your six years of service on the Commissioner's Advisory Committee on Visible Minorities (CACVM). The assistance of citizens like yourself helps to ensure that law enforcement in this country remains representative and responsive to all facets of the Canadian mosaic.

The forward thinking initiatives commenced by former Commissioner Inkster and others before him will, I am sure, be continued in one form or another by the present Commissioner and his successors. The employment equity strategies now being pursued by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police clearly demonstrate to the rest of the world that Canada's federal law enforcement body is a model for policing in a pluralistic society.

I will ensure that your booklet is placed in the Departmental Library so that it may be shared not only with the thousands of employees of this Department and its agencies, but also with criminologists, students, and other law enforcement officials who visit this facility from around the world.

Once again, thank you for sending me a copy of your booklet.

Yours sincerely,

THE HON. HERB GRAY, M.P.
